"PET" GREGG ENDS HIS LIFE IN CONNERSVILLE CANAL

Former City Treasurer and Rushville Township Trustee Commits Suicide Early This Morning.

ACT IS DONE DELIBERATELY

Note is Left in Which Suicide Reveals the Causes For the Terrible Act.

BODY IS FOUND AT SIX O'CLOCK

Coroner Says it Was Not in Water
Over an Hour--Leaves Wearing Apparel on Bridge.

Black as ink and sadly bloated, the dead body of Theodore F. Gregg of this city, better known to his friends as "Pet", former Rushville township trustee and city treasurer, was found in the Connersville canal about six o'clock this morning. The body was floating on the top of the water, and in the opinion of Coroner Spiekeley of Fayette county, had not been in the water for more than an hour. Mr. Gregg left a note in his coat pocket which explained his deed. The body was recovered by the Connersville fire department and taken to a Connersville undertaking establishment. It will be removed to this city for burial in all probability although no definite arrangements have been made.

The body was found by a crowd of men led by Wallace Mason of Connersville. Mason crossed the bridge over the canal in Eighth street about six o'clock this morning and noticed a hat hanging on the east end of the bridge rail. Beside it on the floor of the bridge lay a coat, a pair of shoes, a collar and a necktie. His first impression was that someone had ended their life in the waters of the canal.

He gathered a crowd of men and the search was started down stream. It was not necessary to go far. About a block toward Seventh street just where the canal widens into sort of a pond, they found the body of a man floating, face downward, near the west bank.

The Connersville fire department was called, and with a grappling hook, Chief Barns dragged the heavy body from the water. The body was laid on the bank until Coroner Spiekeley arrived. It was seen from the first that life was extinct and that it would be useless to attempt to revive him. The body was removed to a Connersville undertaking establishment.

Both the coroner and the undertaker are of the opinion that the body had not been in the water for more than an hour. The undertaker says that there was very little water in the dead man's body and that it is very likely that death was from natural causes rather than by drowning, due to the condition in which he was at the time he jumped into the water. His body was as black as ink when removed from the water, but the corpse was made to look as natural as life.

People who passed over the Eighth street canal bridge as late as eleven o'clock last night did not notice the wearing apparel on the bridge which upholds the theory that he had not been in the water long. An employe in the I. & C. traction's car barns here, who lives in Connersville and travels back and forth to this city to his work, saw the clothes on the bridge as he passed over it about five twenty-five o'clock this morning. He boarded the I. & C. car at Connersville at five-thirty and remarked to the conductor that he had seen the

"PET" GREGG'S NOTE.

Connersville, Ind., Sept 11, 1911
Without any mind of my own yet knowing that I am increasing my wrong doing through the use of drink, which I can not break off, it is best that I end all. For twenty years, after a former reformation, I lived as honestly as any man, and I ask that my former friends think of me in that light. Without hope in this life I am willing to embark on the unknown, believing in the mercy of a just God.

Hoping that my former friends can say "Charity to all and malice to none," I am truly clothes and supposed that someone had either attempted a fake suicide stunt or else had made a change there. It is supposed that Mr. Gregg plunged into the water with suicidal intent some time between four and five o'clock. It is known that he had no room at any hotel in Connersville last evening. He had been sleeping at the Palace hotel in Connersville, but was not in his bed there last night.

That the deed was premeditated, and that he deliberately took his own life, is alike revealed in the note which was found in the dead man's coat pocket. Also are the causes which led up to the terrible deed told in the note. The note was written with a pencil on heavy tablet paper.

That Mr. Gregg had lost all control of himself and that he was not entirely sane due to his physical condition, is made plain in the note which he left. He admits that he could not free himself from the tenacles of a habit which had grown on him and ended his life here on earth to begin another which is uncertain, yet depending on the mercy of a just Redeemer.

Mr. Gregg had been missing from this city for more than four months. His whereabouts were unknown even to his immediate relatives. He lived

Daffydil Doings Down In Dippy Dell

The postoffice is generally a very quiet place principally because quiet people are in charge. On this particular day the quiet was oppressive. The general peace and quietude was interrupted occasionally by John Finley calling Lew Cline a liar, but that is such a common occurrence that no one paid any attention to that. The rural mail carriers were all gathered about their desks and all of the city letter carriers, with one exception, were sorting out their allotment of mail. Clarence Cross heaved a bucket of coal into the old "soft" burner and pulled a chair beside the stove for a quiet pipe. Harvey Allen was there about this time trying to figure out just when the next muckraking magazine would attack the postoffice department and how

CAPTURED THIEF AT POINT OF GUN

Wesley Levi Caught Last Night in Watermelon Patch by James Yazell.

BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

Two Other Men Who Escaped May be Implicated--Charged With Petit Larceny.

Caught with the "goods on" and forced to surrender at the point of a double barrel shotgun, was the experience Wesley Levi had last evening when James Yazell found him in his watermelon patch. Levi was brought before Squire Kratzer and charged with petit larceny. He was bound over to the grand jury and placed under $100 bond which he was unable to secure and went to jail.

Mr. Yazell has a large watermelon patch west of the city which has been frequented lately by several parties. Last Saturday night a number of melons were stolen and a dozen or more were smashed and the vines tramped. Mr. Yazell had spent much time in cultivating the melons and then to have someone steal them was more than he could stand so he laid for the bunch last evening with the result that Levi was captured. Levi was "covered" and told to surrender, which he readily did. Yazell made Levi go with him and brought him to the city in a carriage. There were several other men in the patch with Levi, who ran when they saw Yazell. Mr. Yazell says he thinks there were two more and he would have shot one, but was afraid of hitting a colt in the adjoining field, belonging to Dr. F. G. Hackleman.

Yazell took no chances on his captive making a get-away and covered him at all times. A large crowd quickly gathered in the Squire's office, as the capture of a man in true western style is a very uncommon thing here. Levi did not deny taking a melon, but said he intended eating it there at the patch.

It is said he was to be brought before the grand jury this afternoon and his case be investigated.

Speaking of "Jack the Hugger," why not arrest the last census which embraced 17,000,000 women, white and colored, pretty, ugly or indifferent, and admits the allegation?

CATCH RUNAWAYS AT GREENSBURG

Police Held Two Youths From Sail-

Home at Knightstown.

DISLIKED TO GO TO SCHOOL

Two small boys, runaways from the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Knightstown were located in this city Saturday night and Monday morning returned to that institution, says the Greensburg News. The boys' names are Henson and Salyer, age ten and eleven years. The Henson boy formerly lived here. The boys decided that they did not care to attend school so Saturday morning ran away from the home. They were located here at the home of Jess Hudson, in the south part of the city. Mr. Hudson telephoned to the Home, informing the authorities there about the boys' presence here and Monday Miss Carrie Gregory of that institution came here and took the boys back. The little fellows did not much want to return, but admitted that it was for the best.

CONNERSVILLE HAS ILL LUCK STREAK

Besides Gregg Suicide One Man Falls to His Death and Two Others
Accidentally Hurt.

WM. BRACKFORD BREAKS NECK

Connersville was beset with accidental deaths, suicides and serious accidents last evening and this morning. Besides two deaths, one accidental and another a suicide, that of T. E. Gregg, two men were hurt while working in that city.

William Brackford, chief stage hand at the Grand opera house there, fell to his death about seven o'clock last evening. He suffered with the intense heat back of the stage and placed two narrow planks from a widow sill of the opera house to the top of a box car which stood on the track next to the opera house. He stood on them to get cool. One of the planks broke and threw him to the hard pavement, head first. The right side of his skull hit the pavement and his neck was broken. He never regained consciousness and died two hours later.

An employe of one of the Connersville factories fell this morning and broke both legs. Shortly before that a workman who was employed on the old postoffice building in Central avenue fell fifteen feet to the pavement, but was not badly hurt.

500 LODGEMEN TO BE IN PARADE

Rush County Will Send Monster Delegation to Meeting of Sovereign
Grand Lodge.

IN INDIANAPOLIS NEXT WEEK

Special Train Will be Run Over Big Four--Lodgemen Will Parade
Here.

It is anticipated that at least five hundred Rush county Odd Fellows will be in line in the monster torch light procession which will be held in Indianapolis one week from tomorrow night as a part of the program at the meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows which will be in session in Indianapolis next week. Representatives from many foreign countries will be in attendance at the meeting.

A Rush county special train will be run to Indianapolis over the Big Four one week from tomorrow so that all of the lodgemen in the county can travel together. By traveling on the same special it is thought that a better showing can be made. The crowd will be together in Indianapolis and will march in a body in the procession.

The arrangements for the train were completed today. The special will be transferred from this division at Shirley and will be taken on into Indianapolis. The special will start at Milroy where a large and representative crowd of Odd Fellows will board it. The train will come to this city and all of the Odd Fellows of the county will gather here, with the exception of the Carthage lodge, to board the special. The Milroy delegation will get off the train here and the Odd Fellows will mobilize on the court house lawn. They will parade in this city and will board the special about one o'clock that afternoon. The Carthage lodge will get on the train at that place.

The noise making facilities of the Rush county delegation will not be found wanting. The Rushville, Andersonville and Arlington bands have been employed and a drum corps is being organized to go to Indianapolis on the special.

Although all of the lodges in the county will join in the special, no distinction will be shown. All of the lodgemen on the train will be known as Rush county Odd Fellows without any reference to the lodge. The train will arrive in Indianapolis at three o'clock that afternoon.

A number of people other than Odd Fellows will go to Indianapolis on the special for the big celebration. The local managers of the train desire that it be announced that anyone may go on the special. The return trip tickets will be good on the Big Four the next day so that any who desire may stay in Indianapolis all night.

NOT SO BAD AS THAT.

Connersville News: For some reason not apparent, Rush county is given the privilege of sending but one free patient to the State Tuberculosis hospital, while Fayette with a little smaller population gets two. It may be that the health authorities hold that the people living in the open country and in small villages and towns are less liable to long diseases than in counties like Fayette with its large and populous capital.

Town Development

Among the cities of the United States which are prominent in great awakening going on among municipalities Davenport, Iowa, has come to be looked upon with interest. It has gained distinction through its promulgation of a plan for the financing of industrial and other enterprises under the name of the Davenport Industrial Investment Co. The plan is referred to by magazine and newspaper writers as the "Davenport plan."

Believing that the plan is based on sound financial principles and may be used in full in or adapted to the needs of other cities, the Herald takes pleasure in presenting the articles of incorporation of the Davenport Industrial Investment Co., which may be an inspiration to Huntington. The balance due on the capital stock subscribed for shall be paid as called for by the board of directors. LUSITANIA'S SAILING RECORD

In Port at New York Only 32
Hours 10 Minutes.

RUSH TO SAVE SCHEDULE.

Liner Was Hurried Back Without Unloading Some of Her Cargo—Dock Strike in England Had Delayed Her Sailing.

On her last trip out from New York the liner Lusitania broke the famous record of her sister ship, the Mauretania, which in the rush last December to land her Christmas mails in England in time was unloaded, loaded and sailed away from the New York port within thirty-eight hours of her arrival. The work of getting the Lusitania into port and away again was accomplished in thirty-two hours and ten minutes.

The reason for all this haste is that the Lusitania had been thrown off her schedule by labor troubles on the other side, and it was necessary for her to catch up with her sailing dates to bring home the host of Americans who had booked their return trip on her.

The Lusitania brought 1,619 passengers, and it took several hours before the baggage of the last of these had been removed to the pier and her steerage passengers transported to Ellis island. As soon as this was done the 367 stewards fell to work putting things shipshape. They had to clean 900 rooms and scrub several miles of alleyways and many feet of stairs. In the engine room the force began at once to tune up engines and get ready for the run to Liverpool.

As soon as possible the big Lusitania was breasted off from her pier and the coal barges sent alongside. They worked four on each side.

Filling the larder was even more of a task than coaling the Lusitania. The liner arrived here with supplies low, for she had carried more than the ordinary complement of passengers. It was nearly sailing time when the report was brought that the last of the provisions were in the cold storage rooms. Some of the big items on the steward's list were 16,000 pounds of beef, 1,600 pounds of lamb, 4,000 pounds of mutton, 4,000 pounds of fish, 2,000 pounds of corned beef, 21,000 eggs and four tons of vegetables.

Almost as soon as each arriving passenger left his or her state-room stewards were gathering up the linen, and even while the passengers' baggage was coming ashore the bales of soiled linen were being tossed to the lower pier. An hour after the liner had made fast the wash started on the way to the laundry. Forty thousand pieces went and were washed and back on board the Lusitania within twenty-five hours.

The Lusitania brought 843 tons of cargo, and she took out almost the same amount. Beyond the removal of some express packages there was no attempt to load or unload. It was said that there was only a small amount of perishable stuff between decks. Part of this cargo, it is said, are lemons. They are now on their fourth trip across the Atlantic, and their value as a commercial product is a question which will be best determined when they are unloaded. This consignment of lemons, according to the story told on board, first crossed the Atlantic from an Italian port to New York. When they were landed it was found there was a better market for lemons in England. So they made their second voyage, this time to Liverpool in the Lusitania. When the vessel got there labor agitation had destroyed the market. The lemons remained on board.

On her record trip to carry the Christmas mails the Mauretania was in port thirty-seven hours and twenty-one minutes. She arrived at her pier at 4:41 a. m. Friday, Dec. 16. She sailed at 6:02 p. m. on Saturday, Dec. 17.

Farmer Drives Them to Cart Twenty Miles to Grange Fair.

John Cavanagh, a farmer, who lives in Portland, Conn., decided to take his family to the grange fair at Haddam Neck. There is no railroad running between the two towns.

Mr. Cavanagh owns ten yoke of oxen himself and by borrowing from his neighbors managed to collect forty-eight yoke, or ninety-six oxen altogether. With these attached to a gayly decorated ox cart he made the trip, covering the distance of about twenty miles in five hours. The services of twelve drivers were needed to guide the animals on the road.

The line of cattle stretched for more than a quarter of a mile along the road, and it took them five minutes to pass a given point. On his arrival at the fair grounds Cavanagh found that he and his cattle attracted more attention than any other exhibit on the grounds.

I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. The portrait parle, or "speaking face," a new system of identification at present in operation in London and Paris, is to be introduced in this country. Police Commissioner Waldo is to give the system a trial in New York city and hopes through it to build up the greatest school for detectives in the world.

Captain Joseph Faurot, in charge of the criminal identification of the New York police department, has for several months past been abroad studying the system of facial identification of the criminal and other peculiarities of gait, speech and shape of head and his lips, his cheeks, his ears, chin, forehead, eyebrows, marks, wrinkles and lines of the face.

The Bertillon system of finger print identification is already in use in the New York department.

Captain Faurot will establish a school of detectives to study the new system. Each detective will take about twenty lessons. Then while on the job if a detective runs across finger prints he will take the impression to headquarters and find filed along with the prints there a small gallery of photos of any thief whose finger prints happen to correspond to those the detective has. He studies the nose, mouth, face of his man, his physical peculiarities.

Formerly he knew only generally that his man was five feet eight inches, of light complexion, sandy hair, weighed 160 pounds, was blue eyed, etc. The complete identification was not made until arrest and arraignment.

Noses under the new system are classified as "cave," "rect" and "veze," or concave, rectilinear and convex. Then there are other differences in nose, such as height, width, projection and the base, which may be elevated, or snub, horizontal or depressed.

As to ears, Captain Faurot says that no two ears are alike. Ears are classified as a subdivision to noses and have many peculiarities. He said:

"The classification of the ears as a minor division of the nose group is as follows: 'Deq,' lobe descending or square; 'ear,' antitragus concave or straight; 'rex,' pli convex, concave or intermediate; 'tra,' the lobe traversed or not by a hollow; 'sep,' lobe separated or not from the cheek, and 'sa,' a projecting antitragus.

"A division as to the height of the individual follows. The forehead, being a prominent feature, has its place in the new scheme. Height, width, inclination and insertion of the hair are all considered. The hair may come down on the forehead round, square or pointed, and if there is none the degree of frontal baldness is carefully noted. The presence or absence of an arch and wrinkles where the nose joins the forehead furnishes a detail that a detective will have in mind when hunting a criminal whose salient physical characteristics have been given to him.

"Under the verbal portrait system lips range from very small to very great. The extent of projection, the showing of teeth and the peculiar marks found on many lips all have their share in the system, along with the various features of the chin, which may be vertical, projecting or receding. Mouths range from very small to very large, and the inclination at the corners often offers a prominent characteristic.

"After the city's detectives have learned the classification in the nose and ears college they will get the description of one of 200 portraits and will be told to pick out the picture of the man whom the description fits. Later they will receive descriptions of men who are to be captured in a crowd. When a detective goes after a criminal with the verbal portrait description he will have a mental picture of the prominent characteristics of his man."

HORSE DIES OF RABIES.

Federal Agents Are Investigating a Rare Case in Washington.

The rare case of a horse dying of rabies is being investigated by officials of the bureau of animal industry. It was ridden by Lieutenant George M. Landis of the signal corps at the maneuvers of the district national guard and as far as known was not bitten by any dog during the encampment. Suddenly it became violent, tearing at its own flesh, and in a few hours it died in great pain.

Only six such cases have ever been reported in the district, and the officials are trying to trace the case back to its origin. Another horse was bitten by a mad dog as it stood hitched to a wagon in the street, and it is being kept under close watch for developments. The dog was killed.

HER HAIR GREW

That's Why a Thankful Woman Recommends Parisian Sage.

F. B. Johnson & Co. will sell you a fifty cent bottle of PARISIAN SAGE and guarantee it to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp, or money back. It's a delightful hair dressing that makes hair lustrous and fascinating.

"In the spring I was recovering from a severe case of erysipelas, which left me virtually bald on the front of my head and next to my ears. The hair kept coming out rapidly and nothing I used stopped my getting entirely bald, until I used two bottles of PARISIAN SAGE. This tonic made my hair start to grow in and, in fact, grew me a good fair amount of hair, and it has entirely stopped my hair falling out.

It is with pleasure that I give a public recommendation to PARISIAN SAGE, which I know is a wonder." Mrs. Ella Gilchrist, W. Pitt St., Bedford, Pa.

A LONG TRIP AHEAD FOR THIS AVIATOR

Robert G. Fowler to Go From Ocean to Ocean.

San Francisco, Sept. 12.—In the presence of a great crowd at the stadium in Golden Gate park, Robert G. Fowler, first of the aviators to start in the long trans-continental aeroplane journey from San Francisco to New York, began his flight yesterday afternoon. Just before he rose in the air to begin the greatest aviation feat in the world's history, Fowler kissed his mother and she sobbed, "God bless you, my boy." Then he rose about one thousand feet in the air and headed due east for the flight to New York, which if successful means $70,000 in prizes.

Fowler's start was spectacular and also had some humorous features. The Wright biplane which Fowler uses was formally christened by James Rolph, Jr., the fusion candidate for mayor of "Frisco. Rolph dashed on both bows of the machine water from the Pacific ocean, saying: "May the tranquil influence of our Pacific be with you in your flight across the continent." Rolph received a great ovation from the crowd.

Soon after Fowler began to make preparations for his flight. When he was ready Mayor McCarthy came up and shook hands with him. McCarthy was hissed by the crowd which had just cheered Rolph, and someone shouted: "Oh, Fowler, take him with you and drop him in the bay." McCarthy flushed with anger and turned away.

Fowler arrived at Auburn, 126 miles east of San Francisco, at 6:45, where he spent the night.

STREETS SWEEPED WITH MOLASSES

New Orleans Suffers From an Unwonted Flood.

A DELUGE OF STICKY STUFF

When a Great Reservoir Containing More Than a Million Gallons of Crude Molasses Let Go the Streets For Blocks Were Inundated, in Many Houses the Floors Being Covered to the Depth of Two Feet.

New Orleans, Sept. 12.—Residents of the vicinity of Market and St. Thomas streets, accustomed for years to live under the overhanging banks of the Mississippi levee, have been overwhelmed by a strange and unaccustomed flood. The flood was a great tide of molasses that flowed out of the largest molasses storage depot in the world and turned streets, yards and houses into a sticky, smelly mass with which people and the city officials wrestled vainly. They are still wrestling with it and it will be days before the vicinity is cleared up.

The warehouse of the Sugar Planters' Storage company was a reservoir used by the old municipal waterworks plant. It covered more than an entire square block and contained more than a million gallons of crude molasses. The walls are twenty feet high and of thick brick, reinforced with steel and concrete. The great weight of the molasses is supposed to have caused them to give way. With a loud roar a section of the wall some twenty feet wide, broke. The sticky fluid rolled out in all directions. Its depth just after leaving the reservoir was more than fifteen feet, and it reached Magazine street, a third of a mile away, with a depth of ten inches. The weight of the molasses came upon two big city water mains and the heavy pipe crumbled, adding great streams of water to the molasses and swelling the volume of the fluid.

In the streets the scene was almost indescribable. Many residences were two feet deep in the sticky mass. Men and women overtaken in the streets were rescued with difficulty and many who fell barely escaped suffocation. Buckets, barrels, pails, everything that would contain fluid, were used by the thrifty to scoop up the syrup.

A new menace has come with the flies. It seems that every fly in prolific Louisiana has gathered in the inundated section and has decided to stay there. That there was no life loss is considered remarkable.

Louisiana, Mo., Sept. 12.—Speaker of the National House of Representatives Champ Clark, distinguished son of this (Pike) county, on his arrival in Louisiana yesterday received an ovation from 10,000 persons who had gathered here in his honor. Speaker Clark arrived on a special train over the Chicago & Alton and was accompanied by 1,000 visitors from Bowling Green and Mexico, and two brass bands.

The visitors fought their way through a crowd of several thousand at the station. The crowd moved up town, where another ovation was given Clark. He was forced to ascend a platform and talk long enough to express appreciation for the reception.

Congressmen came from Iowa, Illinois and Missouri and helped to make the biggest day in the history of Pike county.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER

Charge Made Against Illinois Woman Who Shot Brother-in-Law.

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 12.—After hearing the testimony over the body of Justin Miller, the coroner's jury recommended that his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kate Miller, be held to the grand jury without bail, charged with murder in the first degree.

The shooting happened at the home of Mrs. Kate Miller, south of Hennepin. Kate Miller told the jury she had shot after him as he was leaving the house in order to scare him, but that she had no intention of killing him. The evidence went to show that Kate Miller had entertained a deep affection for her brother-in-law, but that it was not returned. Miller was unmarried and about thirty-five years old.

Rape for Hog Pasture

By F. C. KING, Animal Husbandry Department, Purdue Experiment Station
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

Rape Affords Abundance of Excellent Forage for Pigs.

Rape often fills an important place on the hog farm. On the best regulated farm there are times in the late summer and fall when pasture for hogs is short. This is especially true this year when the drouth has just left pastures very short and clover a comparative failure. Rape has been found to be very useful in providing green pasture on occasions like these.

Rape furnishes pasture as good as clover and often makes even better gains on the hogs. Prof. Carlyle says: "Rape is a better green forage for growing pigs than good clover pasture; the pigs fed upon rape having made on the average 100 pounds of gain on 33.5 pounds less grain than was required by the pigs fed on clover pasture." As rapid and as economical gains were made at the Kansas experiment station with rape as a pasture as with alfalfa.

The rape can be sown in drills 24 to 30 inches apart to facilitate cultivation or it can be sown broadcast. In either case, a well prepared seedbed is required. A poorly prepared seed bed is very unsatisfactory for rape. When sown in drills, about two or three pounds of seed per acre is sufficient, but if sown broadcast, three to five pounds and sometimes more are needed.

When pasturing rape, the hogs should not be turned on until the plants are twelve or fourteen inches or better still, sixteen to eighteen inches high. When pastured before this time the hogs pull up the young plants and kill them, thus destroying the pasture. Rape should not be pastured so that nothing except the bare stalk remains. A few leaves or parts of leaves should be left to start new growth. If planted in drills and cultivated after each period of pasturing, the crop can continue to be used until freezing weather.

With such a plant for use there is no need for lack of pasture because clover has failed, but good land must be used, for rape will not grow on poor land.

Let the Factory In.

That the Rushville Furniture Company is due some consideration from the city council there is no doubt and that they should hasten the time when they will place the new addition in the corporate limits so that the company will have ample fire protection, is certain. The company has requested that the corporation line be extended so that the Stewart & Tompkins addition to the Belmont addition would be included in the city. That request was made some time ago and the city council has failed to act up to the present time.

There is another item which the company desires and over which there should be no delay. The company asked that the city mains be extended to such a place so that the modern and valuable factory of the local company would have ample fire protection. Without fire protection the company can not get insurance at a reasonable rate and possibly would not be able to get any at all.

Every day means something to the new company. The season of the year is approaching when the weather will be uncertain and it is next to impossible when the the mains could be extended. If the work is not started at once it might be possible that the work would be delayed so that it would not be completed this winter.

That would mean much to the young company. It would have to do one of two things, pay the high insurance rate and begin operations or suspend operations and delay their work until spring when the new mains would be completed.

The city council expected to act on the request of the new company at the regular meeting, but a quorum could not be collected together so that a session could be held. The result is that no action will be taken in all probability before Tuesday, September 19, and thus two valuable weeks will be lost. It seems that the council might call a special session for a few minutes some evening and admit the addition and order the extension of the mains.

It appears to us that Rushville people are too prone to consider the new furniture factory too lightly. Such factories as it do not grow on raspberry bushes. They are not to be gathered along the highway and set down for a mere sum. The new factory building was erected by local men with local capital. It will be operated by local men and with local capital and will furnish employment for all local men who desire it. It will bring other people to this city and will probably grow to greater proportions.

This has long been the hobby of Rushville men when approached for donations to bring new industries to Rushville. It has always been their answer that they are willing to support local industries and local men but do not care to spend their money for foreign capitalists who may be here today and gone tomorrow. But this institution is one which should be upheld by the citizens of Rushville who wish to see the city grow and thrive.

It has been the history of factories to begin in a lowly condition, but not so with the Rushville Furniture Company. Most manufacturing institutions have had a humble beginning and have grown slowly. But here is a factory building that is being erected at a greater cost than that of probably any other factory building in the city. It is being built in a stable manner, which is sufficient evidence that the stockholders mean business. Rushville people should awake to the fact that such a factory can not be located in a city of this size every day for a mere song. This same company could have gone to any adjoining city, no doubt, and have obtained bonus and a free site, but they were local men with local interests and they desired to invest their money in Rushville.

Yes, there is no doubt but what the Rushville Furniture Company is due some consideration from the hands of the city, and that in a very short time, too.

Corn as a National Emblem.
(t. Louis Globe-Democrat.)

It is intimated that the Department of Agriculture contemplates starting a propaganda to make corn the official floral emblem of the United States. The idea has a good deal to say for itself. Like the Indian himself, Indian corn is a native here and to the manner born. It was a stranger to the first of the Europeans who arrived on this continent. Spaniards, French and English distrusted it at first, as men distrust many things before they get acquainted with them. In this case, however, the acquaintance came early, and it came in such a way that it was remembered with a good deal of gratification. For many years it became the principal article of the food of the first visitors of the hemisphere. The Indians had been raising it centuries before Columbus was born.

Indian corn saved the lives of Capt. John Smith and his associates of the Jamestown colony, and it went to the rescue of Miles Standish and his friends in the old Bay State's early settlements. At first the Indians planted it for their white visitors. By girding the trees with fire and letting in the sunshine they showed the whites how to grow corn when they lacked time to make clearings. This was one of the most important of the services which the red men rendered to the whites. It was as valuable a lesson to them as was the art of building canoes and of making snow shoes, other tasks which Indian tuition enabled the whites to learn. Corn was their chief reliance for food, for the game of the forests and the streams often failed them. Had they been restricted to a flesh and fish diet solely, the Jamestown and the rest of the early colonies could not have survived, and the settlement of this continent would have been postponed a century or two.

Maize would fill the role of national floral emblem for the United States in a satisfactory way. Indian corn still has its principal habitat here. The Spaniards and the rest of the early visitors to this continent brought samples of it to their home countries when they returned, either temporarily or permanently, but it did not thrive there as it did on this side of the Atlantic. Soil and skies were alien to it. Even to this day four-fifths of the corn produced in the entire world is raised in the United States. To all the denizens of our part of the world—red, white, black and yellow—it has lent a helping hand in every crisis. It was a companion of De Soto and Coronado in their forays, respectively, from Florida to Missouri and from the Gulf of California to Kansas, back in the spacious times of Charles V.; it was with Marquette, Joliet and LaSalle when they were winning the Great Lakes and the Mississippi Valley for the Grand Monarch; it marched in the front line of the British and the American advance from the James and the Connecticut to the Columbia and the Sacramento in their conquest of a continent. As a spokesman for America, Indian corn carries credentials which nobody on this side of the Atlantic will challenge.

The season has been a sort of spotted one, says the Anderson Herald. That is, in some sections of the country they have had drouths and in others plenty of rain; but it has been excessively hot in most parts of the United States and Canada at various periods.

Agricultural this season has not been an unusually good one. Early vegetation over a large portion of the country suffered on account of the drouths. But taken as a whole, and considering all of the crops, the season has been a fair one.

Wheat was good as a rule. Oats was short in places. Potatoes—the early ones especially—failed almost entirely in many regions, but the late crop is fair. Corn is good with the exception of portions of the southwest. The cotton crop will break all records. There is plenty of fruit.

It is believed that the crops will be worth fully nine billion dollars this year, despite unfavorable conditions. The crop bulletins indicate that amount of produce in the process of making or has already been harvested. So we are certain of having food enough to go around and some to spare.

With crops as diversified as we have in this country, and with an area so great and a contour of country so varied, total failure is not to be thought of. In that respect we are so richly endowed by nature and so abundantly protected from overwhelming disaster, that we ought to be a happy people. There is always something to glean or gather, something to eat and to wear ready. And our transportation lines are such that if there is food in one section of the land, it can be easily conveyed to those sections where it is needed.

All of which is very commonplace comment—as it was intended to be. One trouble with all of us is that we do not pay enough attention to the commonplace things of life.

The New York World wants to have a special session of Congress called in October, but most of us are figuring on some way to nail up the capitol doors so that congress can't get in and begin work December 1.

Upton Sinclair is charged with chewing a prune 20 minutes, but it's strange if a man can't practice the principles of Fletcherism without being called to account for it.

Recent air ship fatalities are said to be due to mechanical defects, but also to the fact that when the Creator made man he supposed he would be satisfied to live on the ground.

Sugar is the highest in 22 years, but this won't have much effect on some of the mixtures of sweetened flour that are worked off on the consumer.

Mr. Bryan has called on Col. Roosevelt and one can imagine the awkward and painful silences when two such diffident men get together.

Seven Reasons Why We Sell

Ladies' Home Journal Patterns

1. Each pattern is accurate as regards material required—all seams are allowed.
2. Each pattern is drafted—none are graded. This is a radical change in pattern making and results in the most perfect fitting patterns on the market.
3. A schedule of average measurements is used in making these patterns—they are made to fit the average figure, not the ideal.
4. Measurements are taken over the fullest part of the bust, and not over the chest.
5. They have the only original Guide Chart—there are imitations on the market.
6. They are always first to introduce the new styles.
7. The price of patterns is no more than for other makes, 10c and 15c.

Therefore We Sell the Ladies' Home Journal Patterns Because They are the Best.

The fall sewing time is here. Don't compromise. Use the best.

Chandler and Taylor, of Indianapolis, were awarded the contract for the engine, and the Westinghouse people will install the motors and generators. The total amount of the contracts was about $6000. The directors of the new factory are satisfied that they will have the best of machinery made. The boiler contract was let last Tuesday.

Mrs. William Curry, charged with cruelty to animals will be tried tonight before Squire Kratzer. Registration Law is Effective Next Year

Every voter in Rushville and Rush county who takes an interest in elections, will find the following epitome of Indiana's new registration law a reliable criterion to the main points concerning the necessary steps for officials and voters to take in order to qualify for the election. And political workers should clip this out for ready reference.

Orders establishing, changing, dividing or consolidating precincts must be made before or during the March session of commissioners' court in 1912, and notice must be given of such changes before or immediately following this session.

The appointment of registration inspectors for precincts, with notice of appointment by the county auditor, are to be made by the commissioner during the April session.

Inspectors must qualify within ten days after receiving notice of their appointment by commission.

The auditor is required under the law to fill all vacancies in the office of registration inspector.

At least ten days before the May session of the board of registration the county chairman shall nominate, in writing, one registration clerk for each of the places of registration within the county.

Five days before the May session of the board of registration the inspector thereof shall appoint the clerks nominated by the county chairman.

May 9, the one hundred and eightieth day preceding the election, is the first opportunity for registration and is known as the May session of the registration board.

September 6, the sixtieth day preceding the election, is the second opportunity for registration and is known as the September session of the registration board.

October 6 the twenty-ninth day preceding the election, is the third and last opportunity for registration, and is known as the October session of the registration board.

Only one registration is necessary. All applications for registration must be in person.

All persons entitled to vote must be registered in the precinct where they reside.

Early registration should be encouraged. The time of the party workers during the last registration will be taken up with those who require assistance in reaching the places of registration.

No man is a legal voter who has not registered according to law.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair Is First Sign of Age, Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

CIVILITY WON LARGE SUMS.

Two New York Hospitals Are

DONOR WAS A STRANGER.

Courtesy Shown Old Man by Superintendents Is Rewarded—Rogers' $3,000,000 to Art Museum and Other Gifts Recalled.

Some time in May, 1909, a rather shabbily dressed old man walked into the office of Superintendent Augustus W. Weismann of Hahnemann hospital, New York, and made precisely the same request that many hundreds of idle and curious people make at the hospital every year.

The man wanted to be shown over the institution and see all the nooks and crannies. Mr. Weismann showed the stranger every room, even taking him to the kitchen and explaining to him how the food was prepared and what sort of cooking utensils were used. The old man seemed to take a tremendous amount of interest in everything and asked so many questions that his identity as "Mr. Mitchell Valentine" stuck in Mr. Weismann's memory. He asked about the number of nurses, where they slept and what sort of foundations the buildings had. After that Mr. Valentine came again several times and bothered Mr. Weismann some more.

Recently Mr. Valentine died and left the hospital $1,146,826 because he believed, from the politeness he had received there, that the officers had the best of intentions toward the suffering public.

Mr. Valentine also left $1,146,826 to the Presbyterian hospital, New York. No one there could remember Mr. Valentine, but his description answered a man who two years ago spent a great deal of time bothering Dr. C. Irving Fisher, the superintendent, with requests to be shown details of the hospital and who took notes on a brown paper bag.

The act of Mr. Valentine in leaving great sums to institutions to which he was unknown recalled the bequest made by Jacob S. Rogers of the Rogers Locomotive works to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in 1902. Mr. Rogers, who was a bachelor of eccentric habits, visited the museum soon before his death. He was dressed inelegantly and did not reveal his identity. He went all through the museum, asked scores of questions and finally demanded that as a taxpayer he be permitted to see the minutes of directors' meetings in order that he might satisfy himself that the many prominent men whose names appeared as directors actually attended the meetings and took an active interest in the museum. His request was granted, and when he learned that the directors actually attended meetings and gave largely of their time and money he said that they were fortunate to have the time and money and went away. His visit was not remembered again until his death, when he left $8,000,000 to the museum.

Here are some other cases where courtesy won generous rewards:

Erskine M. Phelps of Chicago left $75,000 to the nurses of Hahnemann hospital, that city, in 1910 because they were polite on his visits there.

Charles Eissner of Pittsburgh left $5,000 to Minnie M. Elcher, a clerk in his store, because she was faithful and polite to customers.

Martin McMuran, a miser, who died in Evansville, Ind., in 1910, left $100,000 to a servant who once gave him a cup of coffee when he was poor.

Mrs. Rose Baubach of Sandusky, O., left $80,000 in 1910 to a local hospital that had cared for her under the impression that she was poor.

Gustave Meurling of France, being kindly treated by the people of Montreal when he went there poor years ago, left a million to the poor of Montreal.

BAGS MANY LIONS.

Rainey Breaks Roosevelt's Record in Africa.

Lions are being slaughtered in Africa like jack rabbits, and Colonel Roosevelt's record has been broken, according to letters received from Paul Rainey, a New Haven (Conn.) sportsman, who started on an expedition last winter.

Twenty-seven lions were killed in thirty-five days by Rainey and his party in their first hunt near Nairobi, according to letters dated June 20.

Rainey modestly refrains from taking any credit for the lion killing. He gives all credit to the dogs.

"The only way to hunt lions is with dogs," says the letter. "Heretofore records show that one man has been sacrificed for every lion killed. Our dogs, however, take the charge out of the king of beasts and make the pastime more pleasant when the final death scene is enacted."

World's Opium Conference.

All powers have now agreed to the holding of the world's opium conference at The Hague on Oct. 15. England has held out for an agreement of all countries to submit statistics on opium, cocaine and morphine, which has now been agreed to. Holland has been notified of the agreement and is expected to issue the invitations soon.

WORLD TRAVELS OF A WOMAN'S HAT.

Always Just Behind Her and Out of Date When She Got It.

Trailed to various parts of the world by a $300 Paris hat which she purchased in Europe nearly a year ago, Mrs. William Dean Ellsworth of Newport and New York finally gave away the elaborate headpiece which she once thought in fashion, but now regards as out of style.

Mrs. Ellsworth was with friends in Paris last winter when she ordered the hat. Before it could be delivered she was called to Moscow by the illness of a friend. At Moscow she ordered the hat sent to her, but before it reached there she had departed for Berlin. The hat followed, but Mrs. Ellsworth had already gone to London. In obedience to instructions it was expressed to London, but Mrs. Ellsworth was sailing for New York when it was delivered to her London hotel.

Impatient that she might have the opportunity of displaying the hat to friends at Newport, Mrs. Ellsworth cabled that her hat be sent to her New York hotel. But in the round of pleasure that followed Mrs. Ellsworth forgot all about her hat, and she left New York without giving instructions to have it forwarded to Newport.

The hat arrived in Chicago when she was on her way to New Orleans. It reached New Orleans when she had left there for the great lake resorts. When the hat was sent to the great lakes Mrs. Ellsworth was in Canada, and when the hat reached Canada she was traveling toward the Pacific coast. Upon her arrival in Los Angeles recently Mrs. Ellsworth wired to Winnipeg that her hat be dispatched immediately to Los Angeles. It arrived here, but too late for Mrs. Ellsworth to wear. She gave it to a maid.

$5,000,000 FOR MISS FORCE.

Colonel Astor Will Also Provide For Her Liberally in His Will.

The money which Colonel John Jacob Astor settled upon his fiancée, Miss Madeleine Force, in a marriage agreement was $5,000,000.

In addition to $5,000,000, which will belong to the young woman the moment she is pronounced Mrs. Astor, a further agreement was made providing that certain provision shall be made for Miss Force in Colonel Astor's will. The provision is understood to be a most liberal one. The will, it was said, will be drawn immediately after the wedding. As soon as the document is drawn and signed by the witnesses it will be deposited, with the marriage agreement, with the United States Trust company, in New York.

It is understood that Colonel Astor and his bride will go to Europe on board one of the regular steamships and will remain away for about a year. The Noma may follow them across, and in that event Colonel and Mrs. Astor will probably do considerable cruising in the Mediterranean. It was said that they might pass several months in Egypt in the winter.

CAN BE HEARD 12 MILES.

Electric Horn Will Be Installed on Angel Island.

The time when a ship will be welcomed twelve miles out at sea by national airs, popular tunes and perhaps eventually phonographic records belted from gigantic foghorns seems not far distant.

Pleased with the harmonious tooting of electric automobile horns, Lieutenant Commander William A. Moffat, lighthouse inspector of the California district, made inquiries as to the possibility of making a similar horn for lighthouse service to replace the dismal blare of the foghorns now in use. He learned that one could be made which would be heard at the Farallon islands, twenty-three miles out at sea. As a sample, however, he decided to order one with a twelve mile range. It will be installed immediately on Blunt's point, Angel island.

FINDS A BRYANT POEM.

California Woman Discovers Hitherto Unpublished Verse.

When Mrs. Elizabeth Mumford of Pasadena, Cal., was looking through several autograph letters of William Cullen Bryant she discovered written on one of the sheets of paper a hitherto unpublished poem. The verse was written on the back of a letter sent to Mrs. Mumford about thirty years ago. The lines follow:

There's a dance of the leaves in the poplar boughs,
There's a flutter of wind in the beechen tree,
There's a smile on the fruit and a smile on the flower
And a laugh from the brook as it runs to me.

FIND MUMIFIED CAT.

Died Eighty-three Years Ago in an Episcopal Diocesan House.

Stonemasons altering the front of an Episcopal diocesan house, New York, were tearing out the stonework at the top of the second story when Patrick Shine, the boss mason, discovered a dusty object which he dug out with a trowel. It was a mummified cat, "a perfectly good cat except for lack of breath," said Shine.

The diocesan house was built in 1828, so Shine figured that the cat was born eighty-three years ago at least.

PRODUCES "HUMAN" HAIR.

Record Clip on Texas Ranch to Be Used For "Switches."

F. O. Landrum of the Neuces canyon, near San Antonio, Tex., has just produced in one clip mohair twenty-eight inches long, which sold for a little over $3 per pound and brought a total of $115. This mohair, it is said, will be used by the makers of hair goods to produce beautiful switches of real "human" hair.

This highest grade of mohair is very fine and silky and has a beautiful natural wave. While theoretically the idea of the hair of a goat being used to adorn women is repulsive, practically when the mohair is treated and dyed an expert could not distinguish it from the real article.

Landrum owns one of the most famous goat ranches in Texas. Admiral Togo, the wonderful Angora imported from South Africa, is the head of the flock. It is he who produced the mohair which four years ago was made into cloth and fashioned into a pair of trousers for President Taft. These trousers were presented to him by the Publicity league of San Antonio and worn by him at the inauguration.

OUSTER SUITS
WILL BE FILED

Against Mayor Knotts and Accused Gary Officials.

A MYSTERY BACK OF ARREST

It is Now Hinted That the United States Steel Corporation, in an Effort to Clean Up Its "Model City," Was Instigator in Plan Adopted by Smooth Detective to Catch Officials With the Goods on Them.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 12.—To bring ouster suits against Mayor Knotts, the city engineer, and the five members of the city council, trapped in the bribery net fixed by T. B. Deaa, Attorney, and Ridgeley have been employed, and have added to the mystery back of the arrest by saying that they are representing Dean in bringing the suits. Word comes from Louisville, which Dean represented as his home, that no such man is known there, and this confirms the belief that he is a detective and was in the employ of the United States Steel Corporation when he applied for a heating franchise and fixed the bribery trap into which the mayor and other city officials so unsuspectingly walked.

Prosecutor Greenwald visited the hotel in which Dean had a room, inspected the dictograph suspended under the bed and the wires leading to a room below, where the conversation between Dean and the aldermen were taken off the wires, and expressed himself satisfied with the truthfulness of the charges, even if there were no marked bills to stand as evidence against the arrested men. He says he will begin criminal prosecutions as soon as indictments can be secured.

While Mayor Knotts himself refuses to discuss the situation other than to denounce it as a job set up on him, his friends declare that the mayor is the "fall guy" for a lot of political enemies who have framed the whole thing up and planted the money in his desk when he was not looking. They say he will establish his innocence at the proper time and in the proper court.

T. B. Deaa, the mysterious stranger, has settled down to the task of cleaning up the steel town where others have failed. He withdrew immediately after the arrests, returning to Crown Point, the county seat, to perfect his affidavits. He said frankly he would not risk spending a minute in Gary "after dark." He cited threats made against him, and recalled slappings that have happened in Gary in the past. Deaa has so arranged affairs that in the event of his sudden removal his evidence will be available for anyone who will prosecute.

Dean is not a "professional reformer." He says he saw his chance to succeed where reformers have failed, and took it. Evidence he has collected will further suits not only for the grafting prosecution, but also for perjury prosecutions growing out of previous cases from which the Gary officials have escaped scot free.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING

Boy Attacked While Riding Horse on Lonely Highway.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 12.—William Burlingame, aged seventeen, was found unconscious with a bullet hole in his chest on the Romney road, ten miles south of this city. Several hours afterward, when he regained consciousness, he said he had been attacked by some unknown man and shot while riding a horse.

He says that when he was passing a clump of trees beside the road a man sprang out and seized the bridle of his horse. A bullet passed through his breast and right lung. He was not discovered until an hour later. Burlingame is in a critical condition, and probably will die.

Independents Make Offer.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 12.—The Evansville Independent Telephone company has filed an application for a twenty-five-year franchise. The company offers to give the city 3 per cent of the gross earnings and at the end of the twenty-five years to sell its plant to the city to be operated as a municipal ownership plant.

May Terminate Fatally.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Lillian McCulloch, who was shot Saturday night by Dr. O. R. Spigler following a quarrel in his office, is in a critical condition and her death is expected. It was the climax of several years' intrigue, according to his statement. Thus far the woman has refused to tell her story.

Child Caught on Track.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 12.—Frank Studer, aged seven years, in attempting to cross the tracks in front of a Northern Indiana railroad car, became confused and ran down the track, being struck by an eastbound car. The accident will likely prove fatal.

Suicide of a Merchant.

Union City, Ind., Sept. 12.—Jerry Roe, fifty-eight years old, prominent for years in business here as a dealer in musical instruments, committed suicide by hanging himself at his home. Financial difficulties are supposed to be the cause.

The Netherlands Taking No Chances With Germany.

The Hague, Sept. 12.—Owing to the alarming war news arising from the prolonged Franco-German negotiations over Morocco, the Dutch government is making full preparations to resist all possible interference with the neutrality of The Netherlands. The Dutch fortifications along the German frontier have been occupied by strong garrisons, and the coast defenses have been fully manned. An order has been issued calling out the national reserves for the army maneuvers. The government is buying provisions to keep the men and horses for six months at prices four or five times higher than normal, and is ordering large quantities of rice from the colonies.

A DEEP MYSTERY

Young North Carolina Girl Murdered and Body Cast Into Lake.

Hendersonville, N. C., Sept. 12.—The finding of the bruised body of seventeen-year-old Myrtle Hawkins in a lake near here is expected to result in revealing one of the most sensational tragedies in the history of the state. While the coroner's verdict is stated there is evidence the girl died before her body got into the lake. She had been missing since Thursday, when she left home to do some shopping. The girl was a daughter of W. H. Hawkins, a jeweler of Hendersonville.

Introduces His Boom.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 12.—At a dinner given in this city last night, Clay W. Metsker, editor of the Plymouth Democrat, presented to the Democratic editors of northern Indiana his boom for the Democratic nomination of Lieutenant governor in 1912.

RUM DOMINATED THE CITIES

The Majorities the Drys Returned in the Smaller Towns and Rural Sections in Favor of the Prohibition Amendment Were Not Sufficient to Overcome the Lead the Antis Gained in the Larger Towns of the State.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—On whether or not the state should continue with the constitutional amendment in force which prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors in the state, more than 120,000 voters went to the polls in this state and registered opinions. Those who oppose prohibition turned out in slightly greater numbers than did those who favor its retention.

With practically complete returns the vote stands for the repeal of the amendment by a majority of 904. Thus one of the bitterest battles ever waged in this country for or against liquor is closed.

The early returns received in this city showed clearly that the larger cities and towns were voting solidly with the liquor forces, while the smaller places showed majorities in favor of the temperance workers. Excepting from the most rabid of the latter there is a general feeling of satisfaction, for it is common knowledge that prohibition in Maine existed only in words. In 1884, twenty-seven years ago, the vote in favor of the amendment was 70,783 and against it 23,811. Monday's vote was one of the biggest in the history of the state and within 18,000 of the record vote that was cast for Plasted when he was elected governor last year.

The result of this vote does not mean, however, that Maine will immediately have license. It will be necessary to submit the whole matter to the legislature, which does not convene until 1913. However, it seems probable that Governor Plaisted will call an extra session if the state solons agree and submit the whole matter to them. They can wipe the measure off the statute books and enact legislation calling for either local option or high license. With the strong Democratic majority, which favors the repeal of the amendment, it seems almost certain that this course will be followed out. The prohibition forces can even make the matter an issue again. A petition of 10,000 voters properly submitted can result in the act becoming an issue again. Whether or not the Prohibition forces will take this step is not known at present.

STRIKE ABANDONED

Shop Workers on the Harriman Lines Will Not Walk Out.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—The threatened strikes on the Illinois Central and Harriman railroads apparently have been averted. After various maneuvers and conferences the labor leaders were forced to issue a retreat order and announce that their plan for obtaining recognition of a federation system on the roads mentioned will be pushed to a finality at a later date. The backbone of the strike agitation on the Illinois Central was broken when the machinists refused to participate in a walk-out in order to enforce recognition of a federation of mechanical crafts. The federation leaders demanded that a final answer be given to them by the machinists regarding their attitude and the reply was an emphatic "no." After this it was announced that plans for calling out the shop workers on the Illinois Central had been abandoned.

Fell From Freight Train.

Newport, Ky., Sept. 12.—William Peaslack, twenty-two years old, was probably fatally injured when he fell from a freight car at Dover, Ky. He landed on the rail and the wheels cut off his right leg and right arm. He was placed aboard a westbound train and brought to Speers hospital, where the physicians said that he could not survive.

Footpads at Huntington.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 12.—William Marks, a Chicagoan visiting here, was knocked down and beaten by robbers, who took all his valuables, including his wife's jewelry.

T. E. GREGG ENDS HIS LIFE IN CONNERSVILLE CANAL

in Indianapolis for a few weeks and later left there. It is believed that the former official had never been out of the State. He was seen in Richmond on the morning of August 12, one month ago today, and was recognized by a local man. This leads to the theory that he had never been very far from home. Two weeks ago Mr. Gregg showed up in Connersville and had been staying at the Palace hotel there. He had been recognized by several Rushville people in that city.

Mr. Gregg was a very efficient treasurer of Rushville for two years, 1902 to 1904. Previous to that he served in the same capacity, being appointed by the city council. In 1908 he was elected trustee of Rushville township and attended to the duties of that office well and in a faithful manner. Two years later he resigned to accept a position as a field examiner under the State Board of Accounts. This position he held until six or seven months ago. Between the years that he served as city treasurer and township trustee,

Mr. Gregg was connected with a Cincinnati realty company which had an office here.

Mr. Gregg was a member of the Mahoning council, No. 36, Daughters of Pocahontas, and the local tribe of Red Men in which he was very active. Mr. Gregg is survived by two half-sisters and one half-brother, Miss Sue Gregg of 219 North Harrison street, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson of Indianapolis and W. M. Gregg of 517 Eastern avenue, Connersville. W. M. Gregg is a well known monument dealer of the neighboring city and is familiarly known as "Boss."

LOCAL EAGLES TO COMPLAIN OF ATTEND IN BODY "BLIND TIGERS"

Plan to go to Greensburg on Booster
Excursion After Invitation From Neighboring Lodge.

MANY YOUNG PEOPLE GOING

A Crowd of at Least One Hundred and Fifty to Board Train at Milroy.

The Eagle lodge of this city has received a special invitation to come to Greensburg Thursday night and they will endeavor to get at least forty of their members to go in a body. Many of the members plan to take their wives.

Word from many of the young people in Rushville and those living in the country is that the Greensburg crowd will be made up of quite a few young men with their lady friends.

Milroy business men expect to join Rushville and report a crowd of at least one hundred and fifty from that place. The train stops there both ways and the fare is only 40 cents from Milroy.

All those who contemplate going are urged to purchase their tickets before 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Tickets can be had of Elgar Higgs, Chase Brooks, Will Feudner, Hargrove & Mullin or G. P. Hunt.

NEW BOXES WILL NOT BE USED HERE

Ruling by Postoffice Department Will Not be Enforced in This City,
Say Officials.

NO EXCLUSIVE COLLECTORS

Although it has been announced that a change would be made in the style of boxes used for the collection of mail by the postoffice department, the authorities at the local postoffice say that the new order will probably have no effect on Rushville. The rule provides for a style of boxes that are self emptying (the collector merely places the bag beneath the box and the mail drops into the bag). Local postoffice employees say the new boxes will not be used in Rushville, probably because they do not employ any men that are exclusive collectors. The men go out and collect the mail on their regular delivery routes and use the same bag for both delivery and collection. For this reason the new boxes would be more inconvenient than the old ones and they will probably not be installed here. Postmaster-General Hitchcock's plan, however, will be good for the large cities.

NOT MUCH DOING IN COURT

One Case Was Dismissed Today by Judge Blair.

The circuit court was very quiet today, only one case of any importance being disposed of. The court dismissed the suit of John G. Hinchman vs. John A. Johnston and the Rushville Mortgage and Loan Association as trustee, to foreclose a mortgage. Court was only in session this morning as Judge Blair transacted business in Shelbyville this afternoon.

Well Known Knightstown Business
Woman Writes Henry County
Sheriff of Conditions.

EPISTLE BEARS SIGNATURE

Writer Says Husband Buys Beer and Whiskey Notwithstanding Report of Detectives.

Sheriff K. K. Kirk Monday morning received a letter from a well known Knightstown business woman complaining of the presence of blind tigers in that place and the illegal sale of liquor by druggists, says the New Castle Courier. The letter contains startling revelations and is interesting, in view of the recent report of Louis Wein, a private detective, in which it was stated that his investigations indicated that there were no blind tigers in Knightstown.

The letter gave several instances of violations of the liquor laws. In one case the writer told of seeing a man carrying beer away from the Italian section, in which it is stated that the illicit joint is located. She also told of her husband receiving whiskey and beer from druggists, bootleggers and from the blind tigers.

Sheriff Kirk took up the matter at once with Prosecuting Attorney Evans. It was decided to go to Knightstown immediately to make an investigation. The trip was made in Mr. Evans' automobile. The officials were accompanied to Knightstown by Mayor George M. Barnard and Attorney Charles O. Mogle.

The letter received Monday morning by Sheriff Kirk is one of the many reaching him and bearing the same messages and containing the same complaints. The situation in Knightstown is evidently deplorable and from the tone of the epistles it seems positive that the liquor laws are being violated there, notwithstanding the report of the anti-saloon detectives to the contrary.

NAMES TRUSTEE TO ORPHANS' HOME

Governor Marshall Names New Member to the Board of Knightstown Institution.

RE-APPOINTED ONE MEMBER

Governor Marshall yesterday announced the appointment of Ida S. McBride of Indianapolis as a member of the board of trustees of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Knightstown to succeed Mrs. Julia Conklin of Westfield whose term expired September 7, says the Indianapolis Star. Mrs. McBride was not an applicant for the place. She formerly lived in northern Indiana near Columbia City, the governor's former home, and his personal acquaintance with her dates back many years. The governor also announced the reappointment of Luther Short of Franklin, whose term as a member of the board also expired September 7.

"Mrs. Conklin was a faithful and efficient board member," said the governor, in speaking of the appointments, "but she had been upon the board for many years and was not an applicant for reappointment. Many excellent women were recommended to me as her successor, but I did not know them personally. I knew Mrs. McBride well and favorably. She is active in the Women's Relief Corps and was a candidate before the last convention at Rochester for national president. She and her husband, who was a judge of the Supreme court of Indiana, and I have been personal friends for years and in asking Mrs. McBride to accept this appointment, I did so wholly on my own motion. Her reluctant acceptance is very pleasing to me."
